

Media Availability: First-Ever Forensic Explorers' Program Wraps Up

March 6, 2018

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

High school students who participated in the Houston Forensic Science Center's first Forensic Explorers' program, the first of its kind in the nation, are wrapping up their 7-month experience by implementing what they learned in a series of mock crime scenes.

Media are invited to talk to students as they put their forensic skills to work. Dr. Peter Stout, HFSC's CEO and president, will be available to answer questions about HFSC's involvement in the Explorer Program and its forensic future in Houston.

WHEN: Saturday, March 9, 2019

10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

WHERE: HFSC's Crime Scene House

1620 Crockett Street

Houston, TX 77007

Please email media@houstonforensicscience.org to confirm attendance.

HFSC is a local government corporation that provides forensic services to the City of Houston and other local agencies. HFSC is overseen by a Board of Directors appointed by the Mayor of Houston and confirmed by the Houston City Council. Its management structure is designed to be responsive to a 2009 recommendation by the National Academy of Sciences that called for crime laboratories to be independent of law enforcement and prosecutorial branches of government.

HFSC operates in seven forensic disciplines.
